Washington, Jan. 24 .- The move-Herbert Hoover for the Presidency received serious recognition to-day in the course of the Senate deliberations when Senator Reed (Mo.), arch-enemy of the former Food Administrator as well as the most active opponent of price regulation during the war, assailed the Americanism of the proposed minee in a bitter speech peppered with stinging sarcasm. Senator Reed capped the climax of his invective by negesting George Creel, former Director of the Committee on Public Inas an available running mate for Mr. Hoover, and demanding the barroom led to the elevator, which that if the nomination of the Californian came from the Democrats it would be altogether proper for the Republicans to enter the campaign with "J. An ingenious drinking place-no other than an elevator in which bar, nent to bring about the nomination of bartender and customer could disappear through the ceiling in case of a surprise-was discovered last night in the course of several raids made by Government agents bent on enforcing the prohibition amendment. The elevator was installed in Ranken's Cafe. 29 Park Row, on one of the busiest streets in New York and directly opposite the Federal Building, which houses the United States District Attorney, while in the same block are the offices of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

> was a veritable booze hoister. In the car of the elevator Revenue Agents William D. Allen, Robert Connolly and John H. Davis found a small table covered with a towel. On the wall of the car was nailed a box containing six sherry glasses, a quart bottle of imitation whiskey, a small pitcher of water and a bowl of water for the rinsing of the glasses. The elevator could be started easily and the occupants put off at any of the three floors above the street.

To the Readers of The Sun

Here we are again in on another consolidation, and this time some consolidation. Three and a half years ago, immediately following my purchase of THE SUN, it took over The New York Press, and consolidated it with itself.

Now it is The New York Herald that is coming in with us, a newspaper whose prestige is as wide as the world. Beginning with next Sunday's issue (February first) THE SUN and The New York Herald will be combined in one newspaper. The title of the amalgamated paper will be

The Sun and New York Herald

THE SUN is the oldest morning newspaper in New York. It was founded in 1833. The Herald is the next oldest morning newspaper in New York. It was founded two years later, or in 1835. Each of these newspapers has played a great part in American journalism. Each was a pioneer on different lines.

Together they overturned and revolutionized American journalism and were the pathfinders and pacemakers of our present day journalism. Each has builded bigger in its special field than any other American newspaper.

The success of the amalgamation of THE SUN and The New York Press is an outstanding record in the history of American journalism. The success of the amalgamation of THE SUN and The New York Herald ought to be immeasurably greater.

These two newspapers are of the same world, the world of intellect and law and order. And each newspaper has something to bring to the other that will make the amalgamated papers better than either has ever been on its own.
